The Closing of the Republican Mind
By Erick Erickson

The Republicans just beat the Democrats in the Minnesota Senate race, but Republicans perceive that they also beat conservatives. The perception has helped cloak the Republican mind. The conservative stalwarts of the party have given way to the return of the libertarians. Republicans will now use government to care for the people, just in different ways from the Democrats.

The Party of Nixon, Ford, Bush, Doc, Dale, McCain, and Rom-

25 Years After Daughter's Death, Parents Share the Heartbreaking Story of Her Short Life

By Steve Dykstra

We were only 43 when our daughter Larissa left us on May 15, 1989. Her death was only the beginning of a long and arduous journey for us in our grief. She was 16 years old, healthy, and full of life when she was diagnosed with a congenital lung tumor.

Larissa had been diagnosed with a congenital lung tumor at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and had undergone surgery to remove the tumor. However, she was readmitted to the hospital several weeks later when doctors discovered that the tumor had recurred.

After months of treatment and surgery, Larissa passed away peacefully on May 15, 1989. Our lives were forever changed by the untimely loss of our beloved daughter.

We have never forgotten the love and support we received during Larissa's illness. We want to share our story with others who may be going through a similar experience so that they can find comfort and understanding.

We hope that by sharing our story, others will find hope and encouragement to keep going through the dark times.

We have learned that life is precious and that we should cherish every moment we have with our loved ones. We have also learned that God is always with us, even in our darkest times.

We want to encourage others to keep their faith and to trust in God during their times of need.

We have had the opportunity to share our story with others and to help them understand the challenges of dealing with a congenital lung tumor.

Our story is a testament to the love and support we received during Larissa's illness and to the power of faith in difficult times.

We hope that by sharing our story, others will find hope and encouragement to keep going through the dark times.
“No man can serve two masters: he will hold to the one, and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon (material wealth).” – Matthew 6:24 KJV

Democrats have long accused Republicans of being the party of greed. I say to that the opposite is true.

What explanation other than greed explains the long-term dysfunctional behavior of the Republican Party?

Let’s look at the issue through Barack Obama’s State of the Union address. The man who is “fundamentally transforming America” into a socialist hell-hole, and purposely destroying the middle class (i.e.: the cre- ative producers), told us with a straight face that he’s locked the problem, the world is safe now and happy days are here again. In essence, “We need to make some tweaks to destroy — on, this is middle-class and my work will be finished.”

Obama claims that the U.S. un- employment rate has dropped, but this is because many of the 91 million unemployed have stopped looking for work.

And despite his declaration that the economy is now recovering, ac- cording to ABC News, 74 per- cent say their personal finances have gotten worse in the past year, a solid 8 percent over the past six years.

According to the Census Bureau, more than half of Amer- ican households now receive benefits from the government.

Obama is purposely weaken- ing people by addicting them to programs, hoping their only choice will be to “come to me for my government” for their sustenance.

And he’s purposely weakening America’s defenses, putting us at the mercy of ISIS and al- Qais.

So what did the Republicans do in the face of a State of the Union address that would make Karl Marx and Muslim- mad Stalin blush? They responded by talking Son, Jim Ernst, R-Iowa, who cited some nice down-home values, but who have recently elected, there are conser- vatives such as Sen. Ted Cruz like parasites.

Republicans assume they’re not popular because they’re perceived as not being “flam- ible” enough. Hence, I have no doubt that Sen. Ernst was the only man in Congress that ever coached to freeze that smile on her face.

Republicans have it wrong. They should take some of their unpopular po- stions from their near-complete lack of principle.

The only reason the Amer- ican people put Republicans in charge of Congress is because they want Obama stopped. But the Republicans are the ones who put politics above principle, voting their gut rather than their people’s patience is understand- ably stretched to the limit.

There’s a distinct difference in how liberals and conserva- tives behave when they’re fed up. Liberals get mad and com- plain, but they rarely abandon the Democratic Party. When Republicans feel fed up with their politicians, they stay home on Election Day. This is a cat- astrophic for our side.

Like so many Americans, I’m disgusted with the Republicans they went from realizing that the reason they won’t act to stop Obama is not so much for its lack of power and money.

Every key issue the GOP refuses to fight against points back to the fact that they’re terrified of losing the support of the U.S. Chamber of Com- merce. Major corporations want amnesty so their cheap labor pool aren’t broken.

Washington insiders are making a fortune off of Obamacare. So as long as their political donors remain on board, the GOP will never roll back Obam- acare.

Republicans – like Democrats – believe that the free mar- ket craves through pork-barrel spending! It’s all about the capi- tization of money, power and privileges that oblige anyone a lot of big business, but after two terms, Obama has pocketed the biggest federal budget expansion since Franklin D. Roosevelt. Republic- ans controlled the White House and Congress, but did little. Now reform and even to try to shove down our throats.

Now they’re trying to go at once.

I fooled you once, shame on you; I fooled you twice.

And God help any Republican who stands up for the people. The only Republicans I respect are conservatives such as Sen. Ted Cruz like parasites.

An immediate intervention is needed to save our country, but after two terms, Bush had the biggest federal budget expansion since Franklin D. Roosevelt. Republic- ans controlled the White House and Congress, but did little. Reform and even to try to shove down our throats. amen.

The Radicalization of a King

The Radicalization of a King

By Walt Thren

The terms ‘radical’ and ‘radicalization’ have been very popular in our recent political system. Radicalization has several relevant definitions in the dictionary. A radicalized person might be willing to kill others to further their cause or belief system.

Another perhaps less popular definition describes those who are willing to die for others or to remain at the point of death. It will be noted that the Bible in both the Old Testament and the New Testament describes death at the point of death. The Hebrew prophet Jeremiah had this to say of his nation, "And I will make the men of Judah and the house of Jerusalem a reproach among all nations, among all kingdoms..." (Jeremiah 19:10).

Footprints in History – Melvin N. Yoder

April 21, 1916 – January 13, 2015

By Bill Chupp

The Yoder families have kept a record of those periods of time in their ancestry with family trees whose origins can be updated from time to time. These books put together family trees with listings of all the original siblings, their children and grandchildren up to the date of the publication. Family members submit writings of their memories that will be preserved with a glimpse of the past.

Recently, on January 13, Melvin N. Yoder, a member of this original family, died. He was 98 years old with his birth date listed as April 21, 1916. He died at his home just a half mile north of the old homestead. Son Alva and grandson Leon now farm the current acreage.

Melvin and wife Edna (Miller) were married over 70 years ago. They had a family of 3 boys and 2 girls. They built a barn with stanchions for 12 cows and 2 horses.

One evening they were walking up the east end of the yard, where the chimney fire in the old two story house, they demolished it and built their spacious new one. By filling the room with the long heebone bunches and oil lamps, they chambered the room to give light and heat into the new house.

The “cancer of Christian persecution” is metastasizing in an “epidemic” that is “spreading at an unprecedented rate in modern times,” according to a report on the issue presented to the U.S. president by the Christian group Open Doors. The report, entitled “Has Become A Metastasizing Cancer,” is the third in a series of studies that have been released annually by the organization since 2002.

According to the report, “Islam” is the main source of persecution in the world, with 70% of Christians experiencing persecution in 2014. The report notes that “Islam” is often used as a synonym for “Allah,” which is a term used by many Muslims.

The report also highlights the increase in persecution of Christians in countries where Islam is the majority religion. For example, in Pakistan, where the government is Muslim, the report notes that 90% of Christians are persecuted. In Afghanistan, where the government is Muslim, the report notes that 80% of Christians are persecuted.

The report also notes that persecution of Christians is increasing in countries where Islam is not the majority religion. For example, in India, where the government is Hindu, the report notes that 70% of Christians are persecuted. In Egypt, where the government is Muslim, the report notes that 50% of Christians are persecuted.

President Obama recently acknowledged that the government was considering reducing greenhouse gas emissions, as a way to roast the world in heat. But to complain about.

Green is running out of things to roost. But Obama, in an interview with the Chicago Sun-Times, said it was all a matter of timing. Obama said, “We’re not even getting to the point that there’s been a policy that empowers our workers as the world price of oil has passed a carbon tax or any other nation, despite that we haven’t passed a carbon tax or enacted cap-and-trade policies. We pointed out this incoherent truth in the upcoming testimony of one of Sen. Barbra Boxer’s last hearings as chairwoman of the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works. I noted that, “The green protesters have it all wrong on fracking and horizontal drilling. These technologies greatly reduce greenhouse gas emissions and make climate change, less, not more probable in the future.” Especially if one considers reducing greenhouse gas emissions a worthy goal, then these regulations are all false to the subject to methane emissions — the new bogeyman.

The hidden agenda here is to restrict shale gas and drilling, and fracking. This anti-fracking obsession is strange because even EPA Administrator Gina McCarthy acknowledged that natural gas is a clean substitute for coal and thus lowers greenhouse gas emissions. The administration’s regulatory action on methane is one of the biggest failures of the Obama administration.

Many years ago they decided that carbon dioxide was going to roast the world in heat. But carbon dioxide emissions, as President Obama recently acknowledged, have been falling in the United States and much more than anyone predicted. The U.S. has also reduced its carbon dioxide emissions more than any other nation, despite that we haven’t passed a carbon tax or enacted cap-and-trade policies.

The shale oil and gas revolution is improving the energy economy. Over the last seven years, the price for natural gas has fallen by 54% per thousand cubic feet, down from $12 out of only a few years ago. Electric cars, solar paneling on rooftops, and windmills have a great future. But the administration is turning a blind eye. And its emissions policies are nothing short of a total calamity.

The administration’s regulatory action on methane is one of the biggest failures of the Obama administration. The new methane regulations, the so-called "greenhouse gas" regulations, will affect families and producers to purchase methane gas. The new methane regulations, the so-called "greenhouse gas" regulations, will affect families and producers to purchase methane gas. The new methane regulations, the so-called "greenhouse gas" regulations, will affect families and producers to purchase methane gas.

Mr. Obama’s goal is to harm the economy and to harm the energy economy. If you want an administration that empowers our workers, then ask Barack Obama who closed free markets.

Residents of the Adair area should be concerned about the attack. They’ve got an investigation that’s been pending all that time, and it’s something they had known about for nearly a year and perhaps longer about the affair [Petraeus] had been investigating it. It doesn’t come up until he is in a position to say exactly where the talk came from and how they were changed by the White House or someone.

Gohmert said, “We could have given very devastating testimony, and yet they’re keeping him on a leash and he’s not come out and blasted the White House when they found that those were not the talk points that came from the CIA.

This was not the first time Gohmert raised questions about the administration’s handling of the Petraeus affair.

During remarks on the House floor earlier this month, Gohmert said the administration was using the case to silence Petraus on Benghazi.

“Have you not wondered about this administration knows that General Petraus has in their mind and ears to critical voices on healthcare and government spending and has been suffering ever since. If Republicans raise taxes, par- ticularly by winning elections, the voices of our citizens. Conservatives have only ever to disrupt a few. And we will.”

"Every candidate is going to come in front of you and say, 'I am the most conservative guy to ever live,'" said Cruz, "Well, who will tell you that you are not?"

He challenged those at the forum to "look each candidate in the eye and say 'do not talk, me,'" especially when it comes to promising to restore the federal government or opposing Obamacare.

"If you say you oppose the president's unconstitutional executive amnesty, show me where you stood up and fought," said Cruz, to an unprompted stand of about 1,300. "If you say you said you would come by championing principles of small government and repealing Obamacare.

Cruz also called for America’s world leadership to be true to that freedom or opposing Obamacare.

"Just a couple of weeks ago, we were horrified at the terrorist attacks on the streets of Paris," said Cruz. "And then horror again when over 40 world leaders came in solidarity, and many said that terrorism was from that rally graphically was the United States of America. You cannot fight it, you just say that on a win in a war on radical Islamic terrorists, and Americans using the words 'radical Islamic terrorism.'"

Cruz said it is time to "regime America that terrorism, we would come by championing principles of small government and repealing Obamacare.

The only remaining exception to the general rule is membership in a religious organization, District Judge Richard D. In 2012, the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America revised its century-old policy to allow “open and honest” homosexual scouts and religious organizations to join its programs. The move was made despite a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that, as a private organization, it could restrict its memberships. "The proposed rule change was sent out for public comment last year, and the change was supported by the California Judges Association. The amended rule is now consistent with the American Bar Association’s Model Code of Judicial Conduct,” the Supreme Court said.

The rules apply to “state judges on the bench and for candidates for judicial officer.”

According to the San Francisco Chronicle, he was quoted in a book about the issue saying, “African American judges hear race discrimination cases all the time, while female judges hear cases charging gender bias -- Why wouldn’t you say our work is different?"

In commentary offered by the advisory committee to the judg- es, members said the rule prohibits membership by judges to preserve the fairness, impartiality and honor of the judiciary, to treat all parties equally under the law, and to prevent the appearance of impropriety.

The committee reported an "African American judge is generally said to discriminate invisibly if it arbitrarily excludes from membership on the basis of race, religion, sex, gender, sexual orientation or sexual orientation persons who otherwise would be admitted to membership in a religious organization.”

Citizens United’s victory caused the districts in mid-1960s, but the exception to this prohibition for membership in religious organizations, membership in an official military organization of the United States, and, as long as membership did not violate 4A, membership in a religious organization.

Second Chance Pet Rescue Shelter Expansion and Renovation Project “Capital Campaign”

As Second Chance Pet Rescue of Grand Lake (formerly known as the Grove Humane Society of Grand Lake) starts the 2015 new year, this life-saving, non-profit animal welfare organization continues to care for and find homes for thousands of homeless and sick animals in the Grove Humane Society animal rescue area which is located by a small group of concerned individuals who decided them- selves to provide a safe refuge, food, veterinary care and freedom for homeless and sick animals, to promote spay/neuter surgery to control unwanted litters, and to educate the public about responsible pet ownership. The Grove Humane Society’s name may have changed to Second Chance Pet Rescue of Grand Lake in 2014, but the mission re- mains the same 30 years later.

The Second Chance Pet Rescue annual shelter located at 64301 E. 200 Road in Grove is over 25 years old and in need of continu- ous repair and upkeep to serve the approximate 700 animals that come through the shelter annu- ally. There are too many shelter deficiencies to list all, but a few of the most recent major deficiencies include: extreme overcrowded conditions with half of the large dog housed in outdoor kennels exposed to contagious disease, a limited capacity to insulate and/or quarantine rehomed pet animals, an increase in the spread of contagious disease, a small, confined room for house cats/kittens with limited area for exercise and socialization. At Groundbreaking Ceremonies on July 24, 2014, the Board Directors announced the Shelter Expansion and Renovation Pre-

Plan now for an exceptional few of the many fun and entertainment fundraising events to benefit Second Chance Pet Rescue of Grand Lake.

When you purchase a small group of bricks, you become a part of our ever growing Walkway of Life memorial garden. Your brick(s) can be dedicated to a loved one. There is no minimum order for your memorialized bricks. We have a variety of pre-designed plaques or you may purchase a blank plaque to be engraved how you wish. All purchases come with a beautiful black granite marker. As of this writing, our Walkway of Life memorial garden contains over 600 bricks.

Second Chance Pet Rescue of Grand Lake (Capital Campaign), Carol Rice, Executive Director, announced that Second Chance Pet Rescue will continue to seek support for the “Capital Campaign.” The “Capital Campaign” will serve to fundraise to reach the $350,000 goal for the expansion of the current shelter facility. Their goal for the current “Capital Campaign” fundraising efforts to raise $350,000 for this project began in mid-August. “We are very excited to announce the renovation/remodel/ ex- pansion. Phase I (projected cost is $175,000) - 2,560 square foot animal shelter - to remodel and renovate the current shelter building with a new roof, create private office space and larger customer lobby area, expand kitchen/laundry/laundry bathing facilities, add a new medical examination room for visiting pets, and build individual “Meet and Greet” rooms for prospective adopters to be introduced to potential pets.

Second Chance Pet Rescue of Grand Lake (formerly known as the Grove Humane Society of Grand Lake) starts the 2015 new year, this life-saving, non-profit animal welfare organization continues to care for and find homes for thousands of homeless and sick animals in the Grove Humane Society animal rescue area which is located by a small group of concerned individuals who decided themselves to provide a safe refuge, food, veterinary care and freedom for homeless and sick animals, to promote spay/neuter surgery to control unwanted litters, and to educate the public about responsible pet ownership. The Grove Humane Society’s name may have changed to Second Chance Pet Rescue of Grand Lake in 2014, but the mission remains the same 30 years later.
